

ABOUT DAVE

Dave Anderson, "Mr. Accountability," is a leading international speaker and author on personal and corporate performance improvement. After an extensive career in the automotive retail business Dave began LearnToLead with the goal to help individuals and organizations reach their personal and corporate potential.

The author of fourteen books, and host of the wildly popular podcast, The Game Changer Life, Dave's no-nonsense messages impact listeners and readers in nearly seventy countries. Dave speaks 100+ times per year to a wide array of businesses and non-profits, and works as a mental toughness consultant for individual athletes and teams. His immediately applicable messages, energized and dynamic presentation style, and unmatched content positively focus, equip, and inspire teams to do better - and the principles he shares resonate with audiences from a wide array of industries: automotive, banking, insurance, manufacturing, retail, non-profits, law enforcement, universities, service industries, athletic teams and more.

His direct, often humorous, and somewhat politically incorrect approach has earned him the nickname, "Mr. Accountability." Dave's "in-the-trenches" background of starting and running world class businesses, coupled with his relatable non-academic approach creates unmatched connection that resonates with audiences and moves them to action.

Dave is also co-founder of the Matthew 25:35 Foundation, which helps feed, clothe, and house under-resourced people worldwide. In his personal time Dave enjoys the martial arts and holds a second degree black belt in karate. He has been married three decades to Rhonda, and has recently become a grandpa for the first time.
